

Dear Friend, in response to your inquiry - -

YOUR E-mail address has been added to the CNL FRIENDS distribution list.

CNL ONLINE is the new Cyberspace subset of The Colonial Newsletter and is an irregular publication which will be issued from time to time as sufficient material is available for publication.

The parent publication, The Colonial Newsletter, has been published since 1960 and our 100th issue will be distributed to our Patrons sometime during August or early September.

The Colonial Newsletter (CNL) is designed as a mechanism for communication between individuals interested in early American numismatics. It is probably of greatest interest to those who specialize in the varieties of the early American coinages produced prior to the establishment of the U.S.Mint in 1793; however, our coverage includes all related activities -- technological, historical and humanistic -- surrounding these coinages, and the areas of early paper money and tokens, as well.

CNL is published by The Colonial Newsletter Foundation, Inc. which is a nonprofit tax-exempt organization dedicated to the increase and diffusion of knowledge of early American numismatics and is supported by the contributions of our Patrons. A basic contribution of $12.00 annually is requested which covers the cost of the publication -- any additional amount that you may care to contribute will be appreciated and will be used to support the general and administrative expenses of the Foundation and its research programs. Our objective is to publish a minimum of three issues a year, but the publication schedule is irregular because of the scarcity of material, all of which is contributed by our Patrons.

All back issues are available for purchase and a Cumulative Index for all issues is updated and published approximately every 18 months.

If you have a sincere interest in Early American Numismatics please send us your U S Mail address and we will send you our Introductory Package consisting of a recent issue, a copy of the current Cumulative Index, a price list of back issues, a discussion of the Foundation's objectives plus an application for membership in our organization.

CNL ONLINE is transmitted directly to our Patrons and Friends who have e-mail addresses. It is also available if you subscribe to the COINS@cobra.uni.edu MailList mirrored in a number of other MailLists, and is archived in Library 4 of the CompuServe Collectibles Forum.

Best regards, James C. Spilman, Editor & Publisher, a.k.a. Jim
